About Us

Resources for Abortion Delivery (RAD)

RAD seeks to protect and improve access to quality abortion care in the United States—particularly for poor and low-income people—by providing financial and technical support, strategic thinking, legal assistance, and information to the independent abortion provider community. RAD’s current team consists of eight full-time employees who work together virtually from locations throughout the United States. RAD manages various programs, such as Regulatory Assistance for Abortion Providers (RAAP), which provides legal and regulatory compliance advice to abortion providers, and a Loan and Grant Program, which provides capital support to eligible independent abortion providers.
